Dear Glad:

Congratulations to the Brevard Indo-American Medical & Dental Association (BIMDA) for being named the FLORIDA TODAY 2012 "Organization of the Year" during our Volunteer Recognition Program. Each of the three finalists in the Organization of the Year category showed the strength of our community with their diverse missions to enrich the lives of Brevard County residents.

Each year, the honoree in this category is one who has made a significant difference in the intellectual, cultural, business, industrial or civic life of our community. BIMBA provides a platform for leadership and skill development and prepares individuals for larger roles in life as professionals and community leaders.

The Indian culture has played a large role in shaping the philosophy of your group by welcoming everyone. Your mission to provide inclusive, compassionate care makes BIMDA a model in the health care industry. Your members have shown that they are committed to strengthen and serve; bound together by a common purpose, personal connections and shared life experiences.

Thank you to all associated with BIMBA for building bridges of cooperation individually and collectively. We are proud to honor BIMDA as the 2012 Organization of the Year. Again, congratulations to you and the entire BIMDA membership.

Sincerely,
